

NSTL busy with earth problems

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles about one of Mississippi's lesser-known but vitally important assets, the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) located at the former Mississippi Test Facility site in extreme southwestern Mississippi. Now supervised by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the Mississippi NSTL scientists are busy bringing space program technology down to earth, with Mississippi benefitting especially under a two-year pilot project directed by the Mississippi Office of Science and Technology.

The State of Mississippi is currently one member of a unique consortium that represents both a "first" and a "one of a kind" situation.

Together with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the State of Louisiana, Mississippi is a party to the exclusive effort aimed at developing a practical and workable approach to distributing "space-age" technology.

This technology is being developed by the NASA-National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) and in Mississippi is being accessed through the Mississippi Office of Science and Technology (MOST).

Representing little if any direct cost to Mississippi taxpayers, MOST activities in the area of technology transfer are being funded for a two-year pilot program period with a grant from the National Science Foundation.

Operating as a link between the vast NASA-NSTL earth sciences research center and the people of the State of Mississippi, the Office of Science and Technology is under the management of P. T. Bankston, Director. MOST has offices in Jackson and Building 1100 at NASA-NSTL near Bay St. Louis.

On Dr. Bankston's staff are R. G. Barnes, Jr., special assistant to the director who has been "loaned" by NASA to the MOST office for the duration of the pilot program; Volney J. Cissna, Jr., resident manager of the on-site office at NSTL; Ralph Mason, Scientific Data Systems Analyst, and Dr. James Sweeney, special consultant on information systems, both working out of the Jackson office; W. W. Billy McMillan, consultant on marketing technology.

Mrs. Mary Byrd at Jackson and a secretary-research assistant at NSTL handle secretarial and clerical duties for the two MOST offices.

The NASA National Space Technology Laboratories was established in the early 1960's in Hancock County, Mississippi, primarily as a center for the static testing and flight certification of large rockets used in the Apollo lunar landing program.

Occupying approximately 13,248 acres purchased by NASA, with a buffer zone of approximately 125,442 acres leased by NASA, in Hancock and Pearl River Counties, Mississippi, and St. Tammany Parish, Louisiana, there are approximately 173 structures, including an extensive computer center and support facilities located nearby in Slidell, Louisiana. To the original investment in the Mississippi Test Facility by the American taxpayer has been added millions as the huge installation evolved to its present status.

For the past few years, it has functioned as a host for a number of government agencies whose missions are environmentally associated. They mutually or individually utilize the NSTL's capabilities for remote sensing, the major computer facility, the advanced technological and research facilities on site, and most of all, the talents of some of the best scientists and researchers to be found anywhere.

Their major efforts are being devoted to converting, retooling, or developing new designs of instruments, equipment and services originally created for use in the space program, into forms that can provide practical benefits to earth-based efforts.

NASA activities at NSTL involve research in the use of satellite observation of earth resources, demonstrations in the use of satellite-obtained environmental information, and Space Shuttle rocket testing. Currently, work is under way on modification of the former Saturn engine test stands, to adapt them for the new space shuttle engine tests.

However, there are more people at NASA-NSTL now working for the many other resident agencies than actually involved in the Space Shuttle preparations.

Agencies with one or more research or scientific units at NSTL include the Departments of Commerce, Interior, Transportation and Defense; the Environmental Protection Agency; the States of Mississippi and Louisiana; and several cooperating university projects.

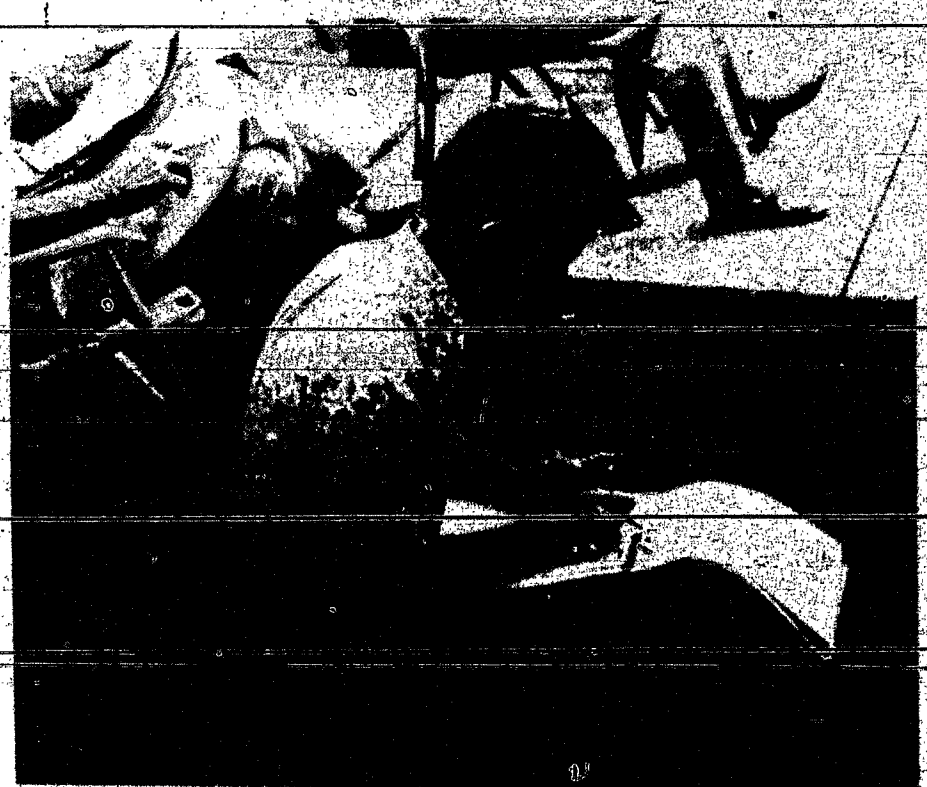

It shall be the purpose of this series to describe the work of each of the resident agencies in more detail.

Some took it easy

Since seating was sparse for Monday's tax sale conducted by the County Tax Assessor's office, some took to finding the most comfortable spot they could to listen to the lengthy list of delinquent tax sales.

Improvement appreciated

Mrs. Patricia Beach finds the addition of steps and a platform to the public pier at the foot of Ulman Ave. to her liking recently as she ventured out upon the pier for a little crabbing. Material for the addition to the pier, which was constructed with GEC funds by the county, was furnished by the city while labor was furnished by county supervisors James Travica and Oscar Peterson. The pier has been open to the public for a couple of months.

Hospital installs New Orleans hookup

The Hancock County General Hospital in Bay St. Louis has installed an electroencephalograph (EEG) transmitter to hook up with the New Orleans EEG lab to take the place of transporting patients long distances by ambulance with attendants.

This brain wave service was started September 10 when the first EEG was transmitted from the Hancock County General Hospital on an employee volunteer under the direction of Mrs. Betty Robinson who will head the new department.

Outpatients, as well as inpatients, will be served at the hospital. They will have the tests done there, and the information will be sent via telephone to a standard EEG machine. The referring physician then receives his report either through a two-way telephone hookup or later by way of the hospital

Salary increases vetoed

Commissioners pass budget over mayor

City commissioners Clarence Ladner and Lucien Kidd overrode objections by Mayor Warren Carver Tuesday in approving a 1975-76 fiscal year budget of $567,114 or some $2,500 less than last year's budget.

Carver voted against the budget because it did not include raises for any city employees or provide for an additional employee in the mayor's office.

City auditor Robert Bienvenu, who prepared the proposed budget, said anticipated receipts totaling $566,079 would balance expenses.

Carver, who proposed a budget of $611,638 which included pay raises for city fire and police, said he felt the city could meet the $45,559 deficit between receipts and the budget if Commissioner Ladner would simply collect the city's unpaid personal taxes.

"I know that there is a tremendous amount of money in these unpaid personal taxes that haven't been collected and can be collected," Carver charged.

"Of course we can't budget on that," Ladner shot back.

Taking issue with the mayor, both commissioners challenged the mayor's statement that there were "thousands of dollars in unpaid taxes on the books that could be collected."

Most of these unpaid personal taxes, Ladner said, represent businesses that have since closed up and left town making it impossible to collect the unpaid tax.

Ladner and Kidd both advocated trying to live within the proposed budget submitted by Bienvenu.

A current $12,000 deficit in the city's general fund prompted Ladner to observe that the utility department and the tax collector's department had been within their budgets for the past year, while the mayor's office had overrun its budget.

"It seems to me," Ladner said, "that the departments where we overran are the departments where we need to look the hardest."

After turning back Carver's budget proposal in the morning session, the council returned that afternoon to reconsider Bienvenu's proposal.

A motion by Ladner to accept the budget as it stood was interrupted by Mayor Carver who made a last ditch effort to have an extra employee approved for his office.

"When I say I need additional help in my office," the mayor said, "I mean I really need some help. You all have computers and clerical help in your departments, and I've got to have another man. My motion is that we hire Pat Cheney at a salary of $400 a month."

Ladner - "I can't second that motion unless you show me where we can get the money."

Kidd - "Same here."

Earlier in making his appeal for salary increases, the mayor said he was concerned the city employees were not even getting a two and a half percent cost of living increase.

"You've got people working for the city who could go out and make more doing just about anything," Carver said.

"The simple fact of the matter though," Ladner countered "is that the physical condition of the city will not merit a raise at this time for anybody."

Ladner said he would have no part of approving an unbalanced budget. In private after the meeting, Ladner spoke of criticism he had received last year after equalizing taxes.

"I took a lot of flack last year for equalizing taxes and I'm not about to take anymore this year because the mayor wants to shovel out money we haven't got."

Earlier on Monday the council set next year's millage at $2.25 mills - an increase of 2.25 mills over this year - inside the city of Bay St. Louis.

The city adopted 29 mills for the municipal separate school district.

Two of the mills are to be used to repay the Hurricane Camille loan borrowed from the Governor's Emergency Council, while the 4 mill is to be held to assist in providing $20,000 for the city-county library system.

Stennis urges price control extension

Senator John C. Stennis today urged the Senate to immediately pass "at least a 45-day extension" of price controls on oil because it is "unwise and unfair to the American people to remove all controls over oil prices suddenly and overnight."

As a result of the Senate sustaining President Ford's veto of the six-month extension of oil price controls, Stennis reminded his colleagues that the nation now has no price controls on either oil or new domestic oil. "Taking into consideration the welfare of the ordinary consumer," Stennis said, "I find this situation to be unworkable. These people have already been hit too hard by inflation."

Civil Service vacancies expected

Darrell named NORDA chief

Captain Charles G. Darrell, USN, has been named the Commanding Officer of the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity (NORDA), which is the first of two Navy organizations that will be relocated from the Washington, D. C. area to the National Space Technology Laboratories in Bay St. Louis.

NORDA, which was recently created as a field activity under the Chief of Naval Research, is planned to have a complement of about 250 people.

Captain Darrell, a qualified submariner, is currently serving as the director of the Naval Systems Division of the Office of Naval Research in Arlington, Virginia. He plans to move his family to the Bay St. Louis area later this year.

Joining NORDA at NSTL site will be the Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO) from Suitland, Maryland, which will be relocated with a complement of about 1,000 people. NAVOCEANO will start their move to Mississippi later this year. Captain James E. Ayres, the commander of the Naval Oceanographic Office, will later join Captain Darrell at the NSTL site.

Navy oceanographic employees who have been assigned to NORDA have been notified of their relocation to their positions in Mississippi and have until September 25, 1975, to decide whether to accept relocation. It will not be known therefore until after that date exactly how many plan to make the move and the number of vacancies to be filled. But there will be some vacancies. Recruiting will be started later this year, and will continue until NORDA and NAVOCEANO reach their authorized strength.

Potential applicants who have not been previously employed in a U. S. Civil Service job should place themselves on the Civil Service register for the particular type of position for which they feel qualified. This can be done by applying to the nearest local or regional U. S. Civil Service office. Applicants will either be given an examination or their background and experience evaluated and an appropriate grade assigned. It is hoped to arrange with the Civil Service Commission to conduct tests for clerical employees at the NSTL site at a later date.

No applicants can be hired until they have received a Civil Service rating. Present or previous employees of the federal government who already have Civil Service status should fill out a Form 171 application and send it to: U. S. Civil Service, National Space Technology Laboratories, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, 39520.

How to beat the high cost of college

Dedicated to David

Mrs. Donnie M. Ray of McMinnville, Tennessee accepts congratulations from RADM Edward J. Rupnik after christening the Navy's newest destroyer, DD-971, in honor of her son, a young Medal of Honor winner who gave his life in Vietnam. The ship, ninth in a series of advanced, high-speed destroyers being produced by Ingalls Shipbuilding division of Litton Industries in Pascagoula, was christened David R. Ray. Admiral Rupnik, assistant chief of the Navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, was the ceremony's principal speaker.

Proving that what goes up doesn't necessarily come down, college costs are expected to rise 6 to 12 percent to all-time highs for the 1975-76 school year. A four-year private university now costs a hefty $4,391 in tuition, board and room, and other fees, according to the College Entrance Examination Board. A public university carries a price tag of $2,678 for one year of attendance.

The total cost of college or university training can be even more staggering. One recent B.A. graduate estimated the four years he spent at a Midwestern university cost over $30,000 including tuition, living expenses, interest on educational loans, and foregone income (salary he could have earned if he were working). Graduate school might easily have tacked on another $17,000 since by then foregone income would have increased through raises.

Even with new government programs of assistance, many students are finding it difficult or impossible to finance college. Along with the escalating costs, a growing belief that college no longer is the passport to a secure, good paying job makes it a questionable investment for many. As a result, students are searching for alternatives to the traditional college route. One increasingly popular solution to the high cost of college is the "no frills" vocational education offered in a variety of public and private institutions.

Vocational education offers the benefits of postsecondary education without the high costs of college. It concentrates training in a specialized career such as computer programming, commercial piloting, fashion merchandising, advertising, commercial art, even wastewater technology. There are hundreds of careers requiring only vocational training (and not a college degree). Shorn of "extras" such as expensive student centers, sports teams, and liberal arts courses, vocational schools are able to offer high quality education at a lower cost.

For example, a student interested in commercial art may attend a college or university for four years, taking a total of 36 credits. Less than half of those credits will have been earned in actual work environments either with cooperating employers or in the school's own shop. There, students learn by doing and as a result get practical work experience which often gives them the edge over academically trained students.

With all the emphasis on employment, placement is high in accredited vocational schools. According to the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, an organization of accredited vocational schools, over 70 percent of graduates find employment in their fields shortly after graduation but the figure is probably higher since many grads leave the school area for jobs and cannot be reached. By comparison the Department of Labor estimates only 60 percent of college grads obtain employment in their field.

In fact, the job market is increasingly becoming glutted with teachers, history majors, psychologists and others. Recent reports from the Labor Department indicate the number of grads threatens to exceed demand by 800,000 while 15.3 million students will graduate from a college or university between 1972 and 1985, the labor force need is pegged at only 14.5 million. Less than a quarter of the 61.2 million job openings during that time will require college, and only a third of all white-collar job openings will be filled with degree holders.

According to Herbert Biensack, Assistant Regional Director for the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, college graduates will increasingly be forced into fields not related to their training, such as sales, clerical and service jobs. The result will be underemployment and job dissatisfaction as grads, out of economic necessity, seek employment in areas where their training is not fully utilized. Employment growth through 1985 is predicted to center on the service-producing areas with a 30 percent increase in the need for craftsmen, repairmen, auto mechanics, technicians, paramedics and others.

The major factors contributing to this demand are the growing population accompanied by increasing urbanization with its emphasis on the need for more city services and, finally, a rising standard of living has accelerated the demand for all types of services.

For a listing of vocational schools, consult the U.S. Office of Education's "Directory of Postsecondary Schools With Occupational Programs" which is available from the Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20462 for $3.95. A free 164-page Directory of Accredited Trade and Technical Schools is available

RSVP opens doors for talents of senior citizens

By MAE BEYER

The RSVP Program, which is three years old, was brought to Hancock County by the United Way, which acts as its grantee on a day to day basis. The program provides services contributed by 258 volunteers 60 years of age and older to: American Cancer Society, American Red Cross, Blood Bank, Civil Defense, Congregate Feeding, The County Home, Headstart, Hancock General Hospital, Information and Referral, City-County Library, Recreation, Senior Day Care Center, Telephone Reassurance, United Way, Waveland Hospital Center and the Welfare Department.

Because of RSVP, no longer is the senior citizen resigned to inactivity, he is very much a part of the mainstream of life, reinvesting his talents, experiences and skills to assist his neighbors and his community. Today's senior citizen is a part of the past generation, which through their ingenuity, hard work and determination, helped build America and made it great.

Not only does the volunteer give, but he reaps great benefits, for he finds in giving he also receives. He thinks less of his health problems and makes new friends, as he participates in the fellowship and the activities of RSVP.

Loneliness and isolation are things of the past, and he becomes a part of a group of persons with whom he can be compatible.

Hancock County has a large population of retirees who come to our coastal community to live in a quiet, safe area. For the most part they leave behind family and friends. RSVP is waiting and ready to accept whatever time they can give. Transportation is no problem, because there is the organization station wagon, "The Golden Chariot" to take care of this area.

So many heartwarming stories are told almost daily of the benefits received by participation in the program. There is one RSVP volunteer we will refer to as Mrs. "I don't care." She had recently become widowed and used her heart condition to do nothing at all, convincing herself that she must stay in bed. While reading the Sea Coast Echo one day she became intrigued by the idea of RSVP and telephoned to make an appointment for an interview.

From the RSVP office she was taken to the Welfare Department, and surprised and delighted everyone by selecting as her "special wards" their two hardest to please old folks. Until they died this volunteer did wonderful things for these two people - bringing candy and gifts to the lady and encouraging the man to take up his hobby again. In spite of being confined to a wheel chair he came to the Valena C. Jones Senior Citizen Center and taught leathercraft. RSVP refers to this lady volunteer as "angel of mercy," and there are many, many other angels working for the people of Hancock County.

An Educated Change

Public education in Mississippi is big business, and that business accounts for 44 percent of the state budget for 1975.

More than $277 million will be pumped into the state classrooms, lunchrooms, and offices from the general fund coffers alone. An additional $37 million will be contributed by federal and other special sources, bringing the total expenditures for elementary and secondary education in Mississippi to more than $365 million.

Yet, despite all the modern and high finance of Mississippi education, the system operates under an antiquated Board of Education. The Mississippi Economic Council is pressing for a change in the State Board. In 1890, our present Constitution was written and the educational structure for the state was established. In that year, 80 percent of the schools were of the rustic, one-room, one-teacher variety. Classes met only four months out of the year, leaving the remaining eight months for the children to work on their parents' farms. While teachers earned $32 a month, while black teachers received only $20 a month. Less than half of the state's eligible children attended school.

Most schools today are modern and well-equipped. Classes meet almost 12 months out of the year, including summer sessions. The average teacher works nine months a year and receives $9,314. There are almost 500,000 students in daily attendance.

Even though there have been great changes in the schools and the people in the past 85 years, the State Board of Education has remained as it was originally created. The Board is comprised of the State Superintendent of Education, the Attorney General, and the Secretary of State. Both the Attorney General and the Secretary of State have other pressing duties and are forced to handle educational problems only as a secondary duty.

For years, the MEC and other groups have pushed for the creation of an appointed, lay State Board of Education. The proposed Board would include people who have the time and the knowledge to devote to our state's educational problems.

The MEC believes an expanded, lay Board would help our educational system to grow and improve.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

The Mississippi River without a steamboat on it would be a most unusual sight, but equally odd and peculiar would be a river with plenty of steamboats—but without the sound of a whistle signalling for a bend at the end of a long reach. The steamboat and its whistle belong together like grits and eggs for breakfast. But from the first voyage of the first steamboat down the Mississippi in September, 1811, until 1843, when first was heard the mournful wail of a steamboat whistle, the only lapping of the water against the islands broke the silence.

The settlers of a little hamlet on the Ohio River, down near Cairo, were the first in America to hear a Mississippi steamboat whistle. Men and women, they had all gathered at the center of town to greet the first docking of the brand-new steamer St. Charles. As the boat steamed proudly up to the wharf and the townfolk raised a cheer, suddenly all hell broke loose: there was a series of rapid shrieks from the ship. Men and women went flying in all directions, screaming, crowding into doorways, knocking over and scolding, blocking the way, and in one minute flat flying figures were legging it for home and safety. The triumphant visit of the St. Charles ended in fights and chaos, with the captain standing agape in the wheelhouse wondering what had happened.

A short time later came the calliope, but this was received with more composure, though it was related that on the first visit of a screeching musical boat to a city on the upper Mississippi a large party of Chippewas, standing on the wharf when the boat pulled in, dived into the water en masse at the first notes of the steam organ.

In the early days there were many names for the different kinds of watercraft as each navigator strove to provide transportation which combined speed with capacity, but the most popular were the mackinaw boats and the keelboats. These were cheaply made in St. Louis, carried about fifteen tons of freight, made 75 to 150 miles a day with a crew of five to seven men. Most of the evil reputation of these cities as Natchez and New Orleans was based on the frightful excesses of these men at the end of their trips downriver, but until the steamboats took over the keelboat was the most profitable means of transportation.

Veterans Information

CONGRESSIONAL PRIORITIES

Where would you start if you had the power to straighten things out in this country?

After talking with many South Mississippians during the recent August congressional recess, I believe I know where many of you would start. And I KNOW where I would start.

Frankly, there's a lot of room for improvements across the board. If I were to outline a set of congressional priorities, however, I could come up with several distinct possibilities right off the bat.

Right at the top of my list, without a doubt, would be a proposal to balance the federal budget and restore fiscal integrity. It couldn't be done overnight, but there's no reason to believe that it couldn't be done in two or three years. After all, if you and I ran our house and our checkbooks the way the government operates, we would be either in jail or in the poorhouse for the rest of our life.

Running a close second on my list of priorities would be a proposal to strengthen our private enterprise system. If we did nothing else to encourage free enterprise, we could at least reduce and restrict the role of federal government.

For that matter, we could reform the entire government system! We could start by eliminating or reducing the waste, duplication, and sheer paperwork that burdens our present system. Hold on, you say. What about tax reform?

Absolutely. And while we're at it, throw in welfare reform, Social Security reform, and food stamp reform. We could use some new direction in each of those areas.

On the energy front, I believe we need to emphasize and promote research and development of NEW energy sources. We must become independent in energy production if we are to insure economic security and a high standard of living in the future.

If many older Americans — or Senior Citizens — are to enjoy any kind of economic security at all, we must protect their purchasing power by stopping inflation. We must also examine and solve many of their other needs such as: "catastrophic" health insurance for those who experience long, serious illnesses; inadequate housing; and transportation.

We could also turn our attention to the mentally and physically handicapped and insure their full participation in society.

The need for tough crime control measures was recently demonstrated loud and clear in Sacramento, California, when President Ford briefly looked down the barrel of a gun held by a member of the Charles Manson "family." We need to study crime, find out what we can do about it, and begin to worry more about the victim and less about the "rights" of the criminal.

If we're ever going to deal effectively with our nation's unemployment situation, we're going to have to crack down on those 10 million citizens of foreign countries who now live illegally in the United States and actively compete with American workers for available jobs.

And it should go without saying that we should continue to maintain a strong and effective national defense. We should, of course, cut the frills and waste from our military system, but we should also be careful to avoid cutting the heart out of our defense.

There are many other areas of concern, of course, but if we could solve the mysteries and complexities of the program I've outlined, I can't help but believe that we would enjoy a stronger, safer, better America.

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

Recently guests from Atlanta sent the enclosed letter after visiting Bay St. Louis with a view to purchasing land, buying a house, and becoming residents.

They were delighted with the Bay and its people but have rejected the idea of investing in property.

The man is head of a successful housing and land development firm in Atlanta and owns a vacation house 12 miles from the DuPont titanium dioxide plant at New Johnsonville, Tennessee. They report that air quality in the vicinity has deteriorated, trees have been adversely affected, Kentucky Lake in the vicinity has been polluted and the fishing ruined.

Naturally, another titanium dioxide plant in the neighborhood of their chosen second house is disconcerting. The enclosed letter speaks for itself.

Dear Gertrude,

We loved your town and looked at some attractive property — BUT — the prospect of DuPont's putting up a plant there is disheartening. We, by chance, met Mr. James Travira (your supervisor), and we discussed the DuPont situation. He is definitely FOR it. He had a completely closed mind — even when we told him about the plant on Kentucky Lake. It's a short-sighted attitude. We wonder if it will also pollute the air? If you hear anything of a definite hearing on the water or air, please let us know — that will determine our buying property there.

Sincerely
Marge Berger

As long as DuPont uses deep-well disposal of poisons, as long as it discharges two million gallons of water at 95 degrees into a body of water with a temperature average five degrees lower, as long as it draws five million gallons of water per day from the underground water table with no intention of cooling, filtering, and reusing any of this water — DuPont is too costly in environmental terms for this community.

When asked what would happen in terms of lowered water tables, Mr. Larry Kniffen of DuPont averred that, "people would just have to drill into deeper aquifers."

DuPont's slack didn't mention land subsidence at all. The height of land DuPont has chosen won't be significantly affected — but what will happen to DeLisle, the back bayou areas of Pass Christian, and surrounding areas?

The Texas experience of eight to 16 foot shrinkage of land should be a warning.

Sincerely
G. P. Stanton
(Mrs. G. P. Stanton)
Bay St. Louis

Compared to conditions existing in the early history of Bay St. Louis our city is a paradise on earth! Most of our major streets are hard surfaced, granted you'll hit a pot hole here and there. At any rate no truck farmers keep teams of mules or oxen at "ready" just in case some motorist gets his Ford stuck in the mud.

News About Your Mansion

Senior Citizens from over the state will gather in Jackson Friday, September 19, for a special "Senior Citizen's Day" at the Mansion.

The Mississippi Council on Aging is scheduling tours between 10:00 and 12:00 a.m. and between 1:00 and 2:30 p.m. We are looking forward to having our Senior Citizens visit the Mansion for this tour arranged especially for them.

State Employees who were unable to visit the Mansion on the day held for them in June are being given a second invitation to tour between 3:00 and 5:00 p.m. on Saturday, September 20.

Edward Jones of Albany, Ga., decorator for the historic part of our Mansion, was here this week bringing good news. The wall-to-wall carpet for our Rose Parlor has arrived in Boston by boat from England. It should clear customs and be here for installation in about two weeks.

The carpet was woven on looms used in the 1830's and is an authentic Empire design. Mr. Jones brought a sample showing the pattern and it really is going to be the finishing touch for the rooms.

We had not fully realized what a tremendous job Mr. Jones has done in acquiring the furnishings for us. We knew there were a number of paired tables and other pieces but this hadn't meant anything special until he said, "This house demands pairs and it is so difficult to find them."

His visit also gave us much more information about our furniture. We learned that in addition to the pieces we already knew were attributed to Duncan Phyfe, several other pieces also seem to be his work. One table, according to Mr. Jones, has identical carving to one in the White House that is known to be the work of Phyfe.

Mr. Jones also enjoyed showing us a number of drawers and other special features in some of our furniture that we hadn't known about.

Can you believe that in spite of the fact that the Mansion has been visited by 200 delegates to the National General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in America. Out of state guests came from Ala., Ark., Ariz., Fla., Ga., Ky., La., Mich., Minn., Miss., N.C., S.C., Tenn., Tex., Va., Wash., W. Va., Korea and Japan.

People no longer gather cow dung to burn in charcoal furnaces at evening time to discourage hordes of hungry mosquitoes. Granted we have recently had a lot of rain and many ditches are standing in a sluggish-to-stopped condition and there could be larva. However, the mosquito control service has been stepped up. The city owns some ditch digging equipment, too. Yes, there is some man-power on the city payroll available to cut ditch weeds and start drainage on the move. But our town is growing and it boasts a lot of ditches.

We live in comparative safety — in admitted luxury — in complacent smugness. Haven't our scientist reached the moon? The ocean depths? Erased distance? Aren't they busy making our lives ever more comfortable what with vaccines and instant breakfasts and the like. And our writers — aren't they turning out quantities of words on all subjects and no holds barred!

But we are by nature ever-restless — ever demanding more — right now most of Bay St. Louis citizens seem in a single voice to be saying: "How can this drainage problem be solved? How can these lakes of water be drained from lands both public and private? Anybody got any suggestions? Perhaps as a last resort we might find a helping hand at the end of our arm.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

A priceless document, the original Declaration of Independence, is sealed under glass and displayed in an upright case in the National Archives Building in Washington, D.C. Its position of importance is above the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Heading the document are these words:

In Congress,
July 4, 1776
The Unanimous Declaration of the thirteen
United States of America

Although the ideas expressed in the Declaration were not new, the public did not learn the actual words until July 6. Congress then ordered a copy of the Declaration engraved on parchment, and signed by all members of Congress. Fifty members signed the document on August 2, 1776. Six signatures were added between the dates of August 27, 1776 and the last signed in 1781.

These 56 people made an awesome pledge. They pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor. They kept their pledge. No signer changed his stand. No signer defected from the self-evident truth. What happened to these patriots? Nine died of wounds and hardships during the Revolutionary War. Five were captured, imprisoned and endured the brutalities war prisoners must suffer.

County Agent's Notes

FAIR DATES
Hancock County Fair will be held October 6-11 at the county Fairgrounds.

GET READY FOR HARVEST
Firm, grass-and-weed-free turnrows make harvesting easier. Don't disk turnrows this late. If the weather is wet, the pickers are likely to bog down. If it is dry, dust and soft soil conditions will hinder the picker.

When cleaning up the turnrows use a method that will leave the soil firm. Clippings, scraping or use of chemicals offer the best methods.

Spraying the row ends and turnrows with a contact herbicide works real well. Many producers have leftover herbicides that they can use. Karmex, Lanex, Dynes, Lorox, Cotoran or Caparol will do a good job. But do not use MSMA on cotton this late.

BUTTERFAT TESTS
Dairy rations have much to do with the butterfat content of milk, but feeding is not the whole story. Incomplete milking also plays a big part. High grain-low forage rations in which dairymen tend to feed high amounts of grain to the cow, limiting the amount of roughage the animal can eat, lowers the fat content.

When cows receive less than one pound to one and one-half pounds of hay equivalent per 100 pounds of body weight, the butterfat drops.

Avoid grinding hay or use of pelleted forage. Feeding finely ground hay less than one-fourth inch long will usually cause the test to drop. Chopping silage too fine could also cause a drop in the test. Silage should be cut three-eighths to one-half inch long. Pelleted grain may also cause a slight drop in test.

The fat content of milk varies considerably between the first drawn from the cow and the last drawn. The first few streams will test one per cent or less while the last milk may test 10 per cent. Poor stimulation, improper let down and incomplete milking cut dairymen in reduced butterfat percentage.

TURNIPS AND MUSTARD

Three different fungus leaf spot diseases can damage your mustard and turnip greens. The diseases first show up as small spots and later increase in size and number. The centers of the spots may be light to dark gray or may fall out entirely. The entire leaf may die.

To control these leaf spot diseases apply maneb as soon as greens are up to a stand in areas where the disease has occurred in the past, or at first sign of the disease in other areas.

Twelve signers had their homes burned to the ground. Seventeen persons lost everything they owned. As we approach the 200th anniversary of this unanimous Declaration it is both fitting and proper that we honor the memory of these brave and courageous men who instituted our "certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

During the signing ceremonies John Hancock is quoted as saying: "We must be unanimous; there must be no pulling different ways; we must all hang together."

Glaucoma: Going blind without warning

Generally speaking, people in their mid-30's are at or nearing the most productive time of their lives: families are young and growing, careers are demanding. It is, in short, a period of much responsibility.

At a time like this, to be faced with a permanent, life-altering handicap like blindness could be a devastating setback. So often, too, such tragedy could have been easily avoided.

A case in point is glaucoma—ironically, the nation's second leading cause of blindness, even though the disease can be diagnosed and treated early enough to prevent appreciable loss of sight.

Most prone are those in the 35-plus age group. Of these people, one in 7 Mississippians suffers from glaucoma, according to estimates of the Mississippi Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

In its early stages, the disease is usually symptom-free to the untrained observer. There is no pain, swelling, or redness. Yet slowly, insidiously, vision is being destroyed. Only through a professional examination can an accurate diagnosis be made, which is why the Society advises a checkup at least every other year after age 35. An eye specialist can do it as a part of a routine examination, or a preliminary community glaucoma screening may help.

Glaucoma is associated with too much fluid pressure within the eye. This pressure cuts off blood supply to the tiny nerve cells and fibers that line the retina of the eye, and so eventually will destroy the cells that carry vision to the optic nerve and the brain.

The destruction is not reversible, but if the glaucoma is detected early enough, blindness can be avoided in most cases.

Usually with regular, continuing medication, in the form of prescription eyedrops, the progress of the disease can be halted and further loss of sight prevented. The sooner treatment begins, the better are the chances for saving sight.

"The really distressing part," says state Sight Saving Chairman Mary Ann Mobley, "is that close to one million Americans are living today with undiagnosed glaucoma. And as long as they don't know it, and the disease remains untreated, their eyesight is in serious jeopardy."

In their constant efforts to reach these people, the National Society with which Mississippi Society is affiliated, encourages its affiliates to sponsor glaucoma screenings in communities throughout the country. These screenings, which utilize a simple procedure called tonometry, help find individuals who have this disease. The test pinpoints people with a suspicious increase in eye pressure, alerting them to the need for professional care.

The Society hopes to expand these screening projects by enlisting additional sponsoring groups—more hospitals and medical centers, medical societies, other health associations and civic, fraternal and other service groups.

Information on glaucoma, in pamphlets and films, can be secured from the Mississippi Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 115 Broadmoor Dr. Jackson, 39206.

No nonsense now

Cost-share funds available to landowners for planting

County Forester Michael Williams of the Mississippi Forestry Commission said today landowners may still sign up for tree planting cost-share funds for this year's planting season which will begin in December.

According to Mr. Williams, applications are still being taken for cost-share allotments earmarked for the 1975-76 tree planting season under the Forest Resource Development Program and the Forest Incentive Program.

The two programs which provide funds on a cost-sharing basis for several forestry improvement practices including tree planting are available to nonindustrial landowners who want to establish a stand of timber or make improvements to existing stands.

Now in their second program year, the incentives programs are designed to encourage forestry practices aimed at increasing timber production on underproductive lands.

Either program will pay 75 percent of tree planting costs not exceeding the following allotment limits per acre: $30 per acre for planting, $40 per acre for heavy site preparation work, and $3.75 an acre for light site preparation.

Landowners may make application for the funds by contacting the Mississippi Forestry Commission office or the local ASCS Office.

Historical meeting place changed

The meeting place of the Hancock County Historical Society for its September 25 meeting has been changed from the Civic Room in the Gulf National Bank in Bay St. Louis to the Garden Club Center.

The meeting time will still be at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to the meetings where guest speakers across the state speak on the history of the county.

Smutgrass control subject of extension agents

County Extension workers concerned over the increasing amount of smutgrass in southern and central Mississippi met Sept. 5 for a Smutgrass Field Day at the Mathis Holt farm in Crystal Springs.

"Smutgrass has long been recognized as a problem grassy weed in Central and Southern Mississippi," said John W. Smith, County Agent, Hancock County. "A heavy producer of seed, it gradually invades both pasture and rangeland. In the southern half of the state, over 650,000 acres of pasture are infested with smutgrass. Infestations vary from a few clumps to complete coverage," he added.

Heavy infestations occupy thousands of acres of fertile pasture land, causing losses to farmers directly related to the degree of infestation. A 30 percent infestation of smutgrass means that three out of every 10 acres are not suitable for grazing.

Smutgrass, a very, low quality forage grass, is so tough that cattle refuse to graze it unless forced to do so. Cattle selectively grazing leave the smutgrass, allowing it to grow and spread. However, even if cattle were to graze it, nutritional value would be minimal since smutgrass contains as much as 82 per cent fiber.

We were told at the meeting how smutgrass can be controlled. Tilling each year destroys smutgrass clumps and keeps the grass in check. However, this is not the preferred control practice. Dowpon M has recently been labeled for smutgrass control and is the only herbicide presently labeled for this. An application of five pounds of Dowpon M per acre when the smutgrass is actively growing provides more than 90 per cent control.

Dowpon M can be used on bermuda, dallis and bahiagrass pastures. However, when applied in the late spring, loss of grazing for 6 to 8 weeks occurs. Grasses such as carpetgrass and centipedegrass are killed.

Fall applications appear to be more desirable. Applications before cold weather allow the rancher to graze the area through the summer. Then an application of Dowpon while the smutgrass is still active between September 15 and October 15 will provide excellent smutgrass control and permit the establishment of winter grazing crops. Fall applications cause about two weeks spring delay in the growth of dallisgrass, bermudagrass and bahiagrass.

A regional conference on the auditory approach to educating the hearing impaired child will be held September 19-20 at the Holiday Inn Medical Center Hotel in Jackson, Mississippi.

Among the speakers who will address an audience of teachers, parents, and professionals in the field of speech and hearing will be Daniel Ling, Ph.D., professor at the School of Communication Disorders at McGill University in Montreal, Canada, and internationally known for his research in hearing aid amplification; and Ann B. Sifton, pediatric audiologist at the Bill Wilkerson Hearing and Speech Center in Nashville, Tenn.

The conference is being sponsored by the Alexander Graham Bell Association for the Deaf, Washington, D. C., and the Magnolia Speech School for the Deaf in Jackson. Its focus will be on understanding and implementing the auditory approach.

Finnish firm announces plans to build sawmill/pulpmill

Governor Bill Waller reported last week that a Finnish firm plans to build a multi-million dollar sawmill-pulpmill complex in Perry County.

Waller joined Erik V. Olander, President of Leaf River Forest Products, Inc., in announcing the project which is expected to create some 350-450 jobs. Olander said that the sawmill, costing $12 million, will be the first phase of the project. He said that construction would begin soon and operations could be expected to begin next year. Olander stressed that "commencement of the project had been made possible through the strong support and encouragement of the State of Mississippi, including the Perry County Board of Supervisors, several State agencies, and the Mississippi Congressional Delegation."

Governor Waller said that the complex "will pave the way for a multi-million dollar economic boom in South Mississippi. Forest products are one of our greatest natural resources and we welcome this facility which will process something that we grow in our State."

Leaf River Forest Products, Inc., is a subsidiary of Leaf River Paper Company which is a U. S. Subsidiary of Kymmene a well known Finnish paper and forest products concern headquartered in Kuusankoski, Finland.

citizens to attend an open house at the Governor's Mansion in Jackson Friday, September 19.

Horace Kerr, Council Director, said that day had been set aside by Governor and Mrs. Waller as a special day for the State's senior citizens.

Governor Waller said, "The Mansion belongs to all the people of Mississippi. As a tribute to our senior citizens, we are observing a special day in their honor so that they may come and experience the heritage and history of our State which is embodied in this beautiful building."

Kerr said that the Mansion will be open from 10:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon and from 1:00 p.m. until 3:30 p.m. The tours will include the historical part of the Mansion as well as a portion of the family area, and senior citizens will serve as host and hostesses.

PEOPLE COMMISSION REQUEST BONDS

The Mississippi Park Commission Executive Board has requested the State Building Commission to sell $2.5 million in State bonds to be utilized for park construction in FY-76.

Dr. Jim W. Meredith, Mississippi Park Commission Director, said that the park bond sale request is part of House Bill 660, a capital improvements measure approved by State Legislature in 1972. The request was made in the September Board meeting held recently in Jackson.

Dr. Meredith stated, "Providing these bonds are sold, this issuance will bring the total current State funds available for park construction to $22.5 million. This bond issue will finalize all but $2.8 million authorized in HB 660. In this proposed bond sale request there will be funds earmarked for planning, land acquisition and construction of the parks planned for the Jackson and Natchez areas."

PICTORIAL HISTORY ON SALE

Governor Bill Waller has announced that a special Pictorial History of the Governor's Mansion is now on sale.

Waller said that the book is being published by the non-profit Mississippi Executive Mansion Commission, Inc., which was formed earlier this year to raise funds for the "perpetual preservation of the Governor's Mansion as a National Historic Landmark."

The Governor said that page full color book will be in Bankers Trust Savings and Loan Association in the Mansion Commission. The history was prepared by Dr. David S. Blanding, Jr., and by making their 50 offices available as distribution points around the state. Purchase price for the $4.

New arrivals at the library

RAGTIME. A novel by E. L. Doctorow.

RAGTIME is set in America at the beginning of this century. Its characters are three remarkable families whose lives become entwined with people whose names are Henry Ford, Emma Goldman, Harry Houdini, J. P. Morgan, Sigmund Freud and Emiliano Zapata.

THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY. Michael Crichton.

Crichton has taken a documentary approach in writing this novel about the most daring train robbery of the century. WE'RE GOING TO MAKE YOU A STAR. Sally Quinn.

Sally Quinn was a star reporter for The Washington Post's Style section when CBS chose her to co-anchor their Morning News. This is her story of how she was thrown to the cameras without a word of advice or a moment of training. Whereupon she proceeded to become, in her own words, "the laughing stock of television."

A MONTH OF SUNDAYS. John Updike.

John Updike's seventh novel concerns a month of seventh days, a month of enforced rest and recreation as experienced by the Reverend Tom Marshfield, sent west from his Midwestern church in disgrace.

KATE: THE LIFE OF KATHARINE HEPBURN. Charles Higham.

For the first time, Katharine Hepburn has authorized a writer to talk to her closest friends and colleagues, and has granted him two rare, long interviews covering the whole of her career. This book is the result.

TM: DISCOVERING INNER ENERGY AND OVERCOMING STRESS. Harold Bloomfield, M.D.

Dr. Bloomfield instructs the reader on overcoming stress, fatigue, tension and anxiety through transcendental meditation.

HOW THE GOOD GUYS FINALLY WON. Notes from an Impeachment Summer. Jimmy Breslin.

In the spring of 1974, Jimmy Breslin went to Washington to observe at first hand the inching along of the cumbersome process of impeachment. Instead of spending his time in court and committee rooms, he preferred to work the offices on and near Capitol Hill, to talk informally with the congressmen, the lawyers - and their aides - who were laboriously putting together the mountain of paper that was to bring about Richard Nixon's downfall.

CONVERSATIONS WITH KENNEDY. Benjamin Bradlee.

Bradlee, a friend of John Kennedy, presents a behind-the-scenes, hair-let-down, record of the presidency based on the notes Bradlee made (with Kennedy's knowledge) on their intimate conversations.

DOG DAYS AT THE WHITE HOUSE. Traphes Bryant.

The memoirs of the presidential kennel keeper from the administration of Harry Truman to Richard Nixon. As he went quietly about his daily duties, Traphes Bryant became privy to many revealing, off-the-record details about the Presidents and their families. Taken from his diary, DOG DAYS AT THE WHITE HOUSE is an irreverent and gossipy account of the private lives of some very public figures.

THE BOAT. Lothar-Gunther Buchheim.

THE BOAT is the story of a U-boat and her crew by Lothar-Gunther Buchheim, who served on one, who saw the worst, and who has remembered every detail.

WHEN I SAY NO, I FEEL GUILTY. Manuel J. Smith, Ph.D.

Based on the most recent popular form of behavior therapy, this book demonstrates by a novel dialogue method the skills everyone can learn for coping with other people. These dialogues, according to Dr. Smith, are designed to cover every daily situation: returning merchandise, asking for a raise, handling kids, criticism and praise.

THE DREADFUL LEMON SKY. John D. MacDonald.

John MacDonald fans now have his latest mystery, STRICTLY SPEAKING. Edwin Newman.

"Will American be the Death of English?" Newman asks. Drawing upon his wealth of experience in newspapers, radio and television, Newman focuses on the sorry state of the English language. He deflates the pompous, the grandiose, the stilted, the hollow. He rejoices in language that is lucid, graceful, direct, civilized.

CONSTITUTION WEEK PROCLAMATION
ISSUED BY COUNTY-CITY OFFICIALS

WHEREAS, September 17, 1975, marks the one hundred eighty-eighth anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States of America by the Constitutional Convention; and
WHEREAS, To accord official recognition to this memorable anniversary, and to the patriotic exercise that will form a noteworthy feature of the occasion, seems fitting and proper; and

DAR members urge renewal of Constitution

By JOE PILET
Hancock County as well as the twin cities of Bay St. Louis-Waveland have responded to a patriotic appeal from the Gulf Coast Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and caused to be published a Proclamation urging all citizens to observe Constitution Week September 17 through 23.

On the 188th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, President Gerald R. Ford, by an Act of Congress, proclaimed Constitution Week and called upon all citizens to reflect on the value of this document. There are 26 amendments to our Constitution. Three of them are directly concerned with insuring citizens the right to vote.

It was in January 1956 that Senator William F. Knowland introduced Senate Joint Resolution 105, which was adopted and signed into Public Law No. 915 requesting Constitution Week to be proclaimed annually and "inviting the people of the United States to observe such week in schools, churches and other suitable places with appropriate ceremonies and activities."

A display of flags, meditation on the protection given citizens through the Constitution, and a review of this document are recommended. The frame work of the Constitution serves 200 million American people and is vital proof that the United States can and will continue to function under any circumstances.

State school seeks help

Ellisville State School, a school for mentally handicapped children, has become much more than just a custodial institution. Under the direction of Dr. Paul B. Cotton, school administrator, many educational opportunities have been instituted in the last few years.

Children, who years ago would have sat in idleness, are leading productive lives today while being educated in special programs geared toward the individual's mental age group.

Students at Ellisville State School represent all races, color and creeds. They come from different geographical locations.

The Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary, as well as other chapters in the National Association of Junior Auxiliaries, has "Adopt a Friend at Ellisville" as one of their social welfare programs for the year. Under the auxiliary's sponsorship, members correspond regularly with their adopted friend, sending home baked cookie-breads or small gifts to brighten the day.

The auxiliary also furnishes the student with a nominal amount of money which enables the girl to have extra treats at school each month. Birthdays, Christmas, and other special occasions are specially planned by the auxiliary in advance to insure the hope of one child will not be forgotten. The chapter may be notified of any special need that may arise such as shoes or clothing.

Realizing the many benefits the children receive under the "Adopt-a-Friend" sponsorship, the local Junior Auxiliary is now urging all Hancock county service organizations to consider the program. Organizations or individuals are able to decide their own degree of involvement in the program. All efforts are welcomed.

Additional information concerning the program may be acquired by writing Mrs. Charlyn Stafford, Social and Community Activities, Ellisville State School in Ellisville, Ms. or by contacting Mrs. James Woodfin, president of the local Junior Auxiliary at 467-6162.

Pooch of the Week

Sylvia is a two-year-old who is waiting in the Waveland Animal Shelter for someone to adopt her. She is very docile and loves the company of children. Anyone interested in adopting Sylvia or another "Pooch of the Week", Lilibet, or any of the other dogs at the shelter can do so by calling 467-3739, 467-9236, or 467-7173.

Terrier, Spitz among pets at shelter

Bay-Waveland Humane Society, Inc., will hold adoption day at the Waveland animal shelter, Spruce Street, Sunday from 2 to 6 p.m. In need of homes are a small mixed breed female house dog, a black and tan female rat terrier and a collie and Spitz male. Dogs are free.

Orleans concert features principal horn

Rebecca Root, the New Orleans Symphony's principal horn, will be the soloist for the second pair of subscription concerts Tuesday, Sept. 23 at 8:30 p.m. and Wednesday, Sept. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the New Orleans Theatre of the Performing Arts.

Ms. Root, who is the only female principal horn in a major orchestra in the United States, will perform Strauss's Horn Concerto No. 1 in E Flat Major, Op. 11 with the orchestra, under the direction of Werner Torkanowsky.

Ms. Root attended the Interlochen Arts Academy and the Eastman School of Music, as a scholarship student. Upon graduation from Interlochen, she received the Young Artist Award, the highest award a student can be given. She has played with the Aspen Chamber Symphony, the Central City Opera Association and the Denver Symphony Orchestra, with whom she has also made a solo appearance.

Tickets for the Sept. 23 and 24 concerts featuring Ms. Root are on sale at the Symphony Office downtown, Werlein's Box Office on Canal Street, The Royal Sonesta Hotel in the French Quarter and Mushroom Too in the University area.

The 1975 Mississippi Industrial Showcase, to be held September 26-28 in Jackson, promises to be the biggest and best yet, with more exhibitors, more prizes, and free entertainment. The new Mississippi Trade Mart and all the facilities of the Mississippi Fairgrounds complex will be used. The three-day Showcase is sponsored by the Mississippi Marketing Council. We'll be one of the exhibitors, and we hope you'll drop by and see us while you're there. Bring the entire family.

October 3 through 11 has been designated National Newspaper Week, a time to recognize the people who produce our newspapers. The theme for this special week, "Spirit of Freedom," reflects the very basis upon which our newspapers continue to print news and events. We at South Central Bell hope you will join us in paying tribute to this group of people during National Newspaper Week.

Planning to remodel or add on to your home or office building? If you are, contact your local telephone business office and let us know about your plans in advance. This way, we can arrange to relocate any telephone wires that may be in your way. It'll save us both time.

For possible savings on your next month's bill: Always dial long distance calls direct, station-to-station the One-Plus way, without operator assistance. Check the front pages of your directory for more complete information. Call the operator if you get a poor connection or a wrong number. We'll give you credit.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL KUNZ

Bride is the former Sharon Sundlie.

Miss Sundlie, Mr. Kunz wed in candlelight ceremony

First Baptist Church, Long Beach, was the setting for the September 5 candlelight wedding of Miss Sharon Marie Sundlie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Pierce Sundlie, Long Beach, and Michael Erwin Kunz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Kunz, also of Long Beach.

Chaplain A.L. McKnight performed the double ring ceremony. Baskets of chrysanthemums, gladioli and baby's breath with rainbow color streamers and branched candelabra entwined with ribbon and baby's breath decorated the altar.

Miss Marilyn Porter, accompanied by Mrs. Shirley Carpenter, organist, sang "More," "I Love You So," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an empire style gown of chiffon over satin fashioned with a high neckline trimmed with chantilly lace edged in seed pearl clusters and long full sleeves trimmed with matching lace and pearls. Four cascades of Chantilly lace fell from the waistline to the hem of scalloped lace edged with seed pearls and the skirt swept into a long train. The dress was designed and made by the bride's mother. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a cap of white satin and lace trimmed with pearls. She carried a bouquet of roses centered with a white orchid corsage and white streamers. Her only jewelry was a monogrammed silver mesh bracelet, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Roger Call, Topeka, Kan., attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Max Edrington, Long Beach, Miss.; Miss Pamela Gentry, Gulfport; Miss Nan Erhart, Pensacola, Fla.; and Miss Marilyn Porter, Long Beach.

They wore formal dresses in rainbow colors.

Miss Sherry Nelson, cousin of the bride, Pascagoula, served as flower girl. She carried a basket of carnations in rainbow colors with matching ribbons.

Stephen E. Walley, Gulfport, was best man. Groomsmen were Joseph A. Sundlie, brother of the bride; John Bartram, Stephen Hill and Ralph Fleming, all of Long Beach. Prior to the ceremony the candles at the altar were lighted by the bride's brother Joseph A. Sundlie and John Bartram, who also served as ushers. Kinnon Bailey was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Ramada Inn, Long Beach.

Mrs. Donald E. Roberts, Long Beach, presided at the guest register and Miss Lola Gerold, Hattiesburg, was at the punch bowl. Miss Cherri Carlisle, Columbus, Miss., and Mrs. George Ronald Bailey, Long Beach, served the cake.

For traveling, the bride chose a floor length brown and white polka dot dress with matching jacket, beige accessories and the orchid corsage from her bouquet. The couple will reside in Gulfport.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bush, Mrs. Lee Shirley, Mrs. Hartman Nelson Sr., Mrs. Hartman Nelson Jr., Sherry and Scott, all of Pascagoula; Mr. and Mrs. Garry Kunz, and family, G.D. Miller, New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. James Drummond, Bay St. Louis; Miss Janet Planche, Pat and David Planche, Baton Rouge, La.; Miss Cherri Carlisle, Columbus, Miss.; Miss Nan Erhart, Pensacola, Fla.; Miss Lola Gerold, Hattiesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Call, Topeka, Kan.; Mrs. Elmer Sundlie, Forman, N.D.

CATHY KIM CLIFFORD

Clifford-Mixon plan November wedding vows

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Clifford of Vidalia, La., announce the engagement of their daughter, Cathy Kim, to David Mixon Nichols, Jackson, Miss., son of Mrs. Nevelyn Nichols, Bay St. Louis, and the late Emmett (Nick) Nichols.

The wedding will be solemnized at 8 p.m. November 1 at First Baptist Church, Vidalia, La.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Vidalia High School, attended Northeast Louisiana University. She is presently employed as a respiratory technician at St. Dominics Hospital, Jackson, Miss.

Mr. Nichols, a graduate of Bay Senior High School, attended Pearl River Junior College and is presently employed as a soil technician with Engineers Lab. of Jackson.

Miss Wittman, Kenneth Welch exchange vows

St. Paul's Church, Pass Christian, was the scene for the candlelight wedding Saturday, September 6, of Miss Lolita Marie Wittmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wittmann, Pass Christian, and Kenneth Byron Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Welch, Ocean Springs. Kevin Gougherty read the scriptural passages during the Nuptial Mass concelebrated by Rev. John O'Brien and Rev. Michael Clifford.

Mrs. Walter Guilbault, Pass Christian, accompanied by Mrs. John McKenna, organist of Bay St. Louis, presented a selection of pre-nuptial music including I Love Thee; Sunrise Sunset and I Love You Truly. During the Mass she sang The Lord's Prayer and On This Day O Beautiful Mother.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a hand-fashioned empire style gown of candlelight chiffon over satin accented with Alencon lace appliques. She carried a lace handkerchief made by her great-grandmother Marion Robertson and wore diamond earrings and a pin which belonged to her great-grandmother Mrs. Rose Marie Knost. She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and Stephanotis.

Miss Virginia Wambsgans, Pass Christian, attended the bride as maid of honor; and Mrs. Lola Alpaugh, Hattiesburg, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Bourdin, and Miss Susan Wittmann, cousins of the bride, both of Pass Christian, Miss Kathleen McClendon, Belton, Mo., Miss Cheryl Begue, Pass Christian, and Miss Margaret Niolet of Delisle. They wore rainbow-hue Skinner satin empire gowns fashioned with A-line skirts and matching chiffon capelets. Miss Melissa McClendon, junior bridesmaid, cousin of the bride, Belton, Mo., wore a white daisy flocked organza dress over pink satin. They wore headpieces of white sweetheart roses and baby's breath and carried a single white rose.

Miss Robin McClendon, cousin of the bride, flower girl, wore a daisy flocked organza dress over yellow and carried a basket of sweetheart roses and daisies.

The bridegroom was attended by Jerry Jenkins, Shreveport, La., as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Mohler, Ocean Springs; Robert Welch, brother of the groom, Ocean Springs; Lon Moran, Gulfport; Roy Rossignol, Memphis, Tenn.; Max Hussey and Kevin Dougherty, Ocean Springs; David Netto, Gulfport, and Jonathan Welch, brother of the groom.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY MOHLER

Bride is the former Lolita Wittman.

Four of the Indians

It starts off very innocently, a young man and lady are greeted by the Butler and the cook on Indian Island off the Coast of Devon. Little do they know they have been invited to the island for a dangerous homicidal lunatic. Or do they? Whodunnit?

Sleepers await discovery at annual rummage sale

By JOE PILOT

The women of St. Marie's Church, Trinity Episcopal Church and St. John's Episcopal Church are planning a rummage sale, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 24. Sale hours will be from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday. Place Trinity Parish House on Church Avenue at Second Street.

donate and able to give information on size, quality, and condition of the articles. Cashiers include Mrs. Stanford Morse and Mrs. Donna Baird. Costume jewelry will be displayed at the check-out counters. All useful items given will be given to charity organizations geared to help or distribute to needy on a year round basis, according to Mrs. McCloskey.

Gold members admit they are their own best customers proving the old saying "One person's trash is another's treasure". Items bought at one year's rummage sale frequently turn up as donations the following year. Buyers from previous years boast such "finds and steals" as rare first editions on the 25 cents to a dollar book rack, occasional sterling silver pieces as low as two dollars - and at least one person found a beautiful amber-colored "Union" bottle for a mere nickel. "No doubt", there will be some real "sleepers" waiting to be discovered by "eager-beavers", according to Mrs. Donna Baird.

Little theatre to present whodunnit mystery

Next guests are invited for a weekend to a country home on the coast of Devon by a mysterious host. The guests have never met one another, nor their host. The hostess and the butler don't know who their employer is. Then, while everyone is gathered for dinner, a voice accuses each one of murder. The secret secrets of each one slowly comes out as the number dwindles from ten to nine to eight. Each death fits so neatly with the "Ten Little Indians" rhyme on the mantle. "Ten little Indian boys going out to dine. One choked himself and then there were nine. Who is it? The murderer is one of the ten, but who? Whodunnit?"

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre presents the Mike Guevas production of "Ten Little Indians". The famous Agatha Christie mystery play is directed by Ed Craig and stars Mary Fayeth Rostler as Vera Claythorne, Ted Stechmann as Sir Lawrence Wargrave, and Skip Wusack as Captain Phillip Lombard. Others in the cast of whodunnit suspects include Gertrude Stanton, David Pierson, Catherine Casson, Lamar Hill, Vic Frankiewicz, Charles Lyle, Bob Taylor, and Don Baker.

WHERE IT'S AT!
A Buyer's Guide To Coast Businesses

Our customers are asking —

How do you determine what the fuel adjustment will be?

We produce electricity by burning coal, oil, and natural gas. Prices for each type of fuel differ greatly and continue to rise.

Every month the actual cost of fuel burned to produce a kilowatt hour of electricity is calculated. The fuel cost adjustment in our rate schedules adjusts the price billed our customers for each kilowatt-hour used, either up or down, to reflect changes in the cost of the fuel actually used.

Since the fuel adjustment is based on an actual cost which cannot be computed until the month is over, the adjustment in the bill reflects costs incurred the month before the billing period. All retail customers, including residential, commercial, and industrial, pay the same fuel adjustment per kilowatt hour.

The money received from our customers as a result of the fuel adjustment does not add any cost to the company's profits. It merely offsets an actual expense.

Young Homemakers of Bay St. Louis, held their first meeting of the new season September 10 at the home of Mrs. Ross Ambrose.

The groups community action project for the coming year will be sponsoring a child at Crippled Children's Therapeutic Center.

On August 13 the Homemakers attended a dinner at Haverly's Restaurant, Waveland, honoring former member Mrs. Gail Monstra, who was visiting from Cleveland, Ohio. With her were her sister-in-law, Miss Camille Monstra and Miss Vallery Randazzo.

ORDINANCE NO. 213
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF
BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI,
PROVIDING THAT THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF SAID CITY BE AMENDED BY REVISING SEC. 6-2
TO REQUIRE A $50.00 DEPOSIT
BY BUILDING CONTRACTORS OR OWNERS TO INSURE CLEAN-UP OF PREMISES AFTER COM-PLETION OF CONSTRUCTION.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND BOARD OF COM-MISSIONERS OF THE CITY OF
BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI,
Section 1, That Section 6-2 of the Code of Ordinances of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, be amended to read as follows: Sec. 6-2.
Notice of adoption of building code.

(a) Notice is hereby given that the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, hereby adopts the Southern Standard Building Code 1973 edition, as revised, amended, modified and changed by the Emergency Building
Code developed by the Governor's Emergency Council of the State of Mississippi, and for the building code within and for the said City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, prescribing regulations governing the construction, alteration, repair, equipment, use and occupancy, location, maintenance, removal and demolition of every building or structure or any appendances connected or attached to such buildings or structures in said city, establishing a critical exposure zone, establishing fire districts, creating a board of adjustments and appeals and fixing the duties and responsibilities thereof, providing penalties for any violation of such regulations, and repealing ordinances in conflict with the provisions thereof. (Ord. No. 174, 11-3-69; Ord. No. 203 P. 1-8-74).

(b) That the aforesaid Southern Standard Building Code 1973 edition is hereby amended to add the following: On all new construction the contractor or owner shall post a $50.00 deposit with the Building Inspector before being issued a building permit to insure that the contractor or owner shall at all times keep the premises free from accumulation of waste material and other debris caused by his employees or work, and at the completion of the work, he shall remove all his rubbish from and about the project site, and his tools, scaffolding, and surplus materials, including excess excavation, and shall leave his work
"broom clean" or its equivalent unless more exactly specified. Said deposit of $50.00 shall be returned to the contractor or owner upon completion of the job provided he has conformed with the foregoing regulations. If the foregoing regulations are not complied with after completion of the project and final inspection by the Building Inspector, said deposit of $50.00 shall be declared forfeited, deposited in the City General Fund, and the City shall proceed to clean the job site, necessary to clean the job site.

Section 2. That all Ordinances or parts of Ordinances in conflict with this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 3. That this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect on and after October 18, 1975.

After being reduced to writing, the foregoing Ordinance was read and considered, section by section and thereas a whole, at a public meeting of the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of the City of Bay St.
Louis, Mississippi, whereupon Commissioner Clarence M. Lader moved its adoption and passage.

By the following roll call vote was had:
Voting yes - Warren J. Carver,
Lucien W. Kidd and Clarence M.
Lader.
Voting nay - none.

Whereupon, Mayor Carver declared the foregoing Ordinance adopted by the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of the City of Bay St.
Louis, Mississippi, this September 16, 1975.

Caught in the act

Rockchaw quarterback Mike Graeber is caught in the act after he fakes a handoff to Skip Negrotto who charges into the line. Graeber kept the ball and gained a few yards. The Rocks also gained their second win of the year in two starts.

Echo forecasts

Grid schedule reads like a soap opera

By DAVID PIERSON

Echo Sports Editor

The week's gridiron schedule reads like a TV soap opera plot. Are the Hawks for real? Can the Rocks make it three in a row? Will the Tigers recoup from their costly injuries? Will Robert need brain surgery (we thought it was his tonsils)? And what really are Mr. Jones' intentions concerning Miss Cauliflower? For that matter, what are the New England Patriots' intentions concerning a player strike (we thought strike was something in baseball)?

The answers to the above questions are, according to the Echo sportscasters: Not against Pearl River, they've got a shot at it, hope, who's Robert, only the script man knows, and who knows?

The Tigers of Bay High are in tough shape for this week's game against Harrison Central. Running back Wilford Parker is out for the season with a broken ankle he suffered in the second half of the Pass High game. Offensive guard Kenny Durbin will be out for four to five weeks with a knee injury, and linebacker Santo Saucier will be out again this week with knee problems. Fortunately, no one has complained about tonsillitis, probably the only thing the Tigers are not suffering from as several others are suffering from bruises, but except for the three mentioned, the rest of the roster should be able to go against the undefeated Red Rebels from Lyman.

The Stanislaus Rocks are also complaining of a couple of key injuries in their backfield. Quarterback David Wein will miss the crucial game against conference foe St. John with his pulled hamstring muscle, and reserve running back Perry Elchos, who is sporting a strong yards-per-carry average is expected to see action against the Eagles

The Rocks will have to stop St. John's explosive runner Troy Lindsey who still has not opened up this season. Last week the Stanislaus defense bottled up another backfield threat in Pearl River Central's James Smith when they held the highly-touted back to just 31 yards in 12 carries.

The Hancock Hawks, coming off an impressive defensive show against New Augusta, will try to make it two in a row with a game against Pearl River, Louisiana. Pearl River dumped Crescent City Baptist 40-20 last week after losing its first game 6-0 to Spring Hill. The teams should be equally matched as far as personnel. Pearl River has 35 on its roster and Hancock has 31. Coach Irvin Favre has said physically, BARBER - Harrison, 35-14. Bay can't contain the Red Rebel attack. LOIACANO - Harrison, 37-12. This is the year for the Red Rebels.

Sep 19 Stanislaus at St. John (7:30 p.m.) PIERSON - St. John, 14. Stanislaus, 6. St. John's defense is tough. BARBER - Stanislaus, 21-14. Stanislaus to avenge last year's loss. LOIACANO - Stanislaus, 21-14. The Rocks are riding high.

Sep 19 Long Beach at Ocean Springs (7:30 p.m.) PIERSON - Long Beach, 17-14. Albert Snow is due for a big game. BARBER - Ocean Springs, 20-6. The Greyhounds will stop Snow. LOIACANO - Ocean Springs, 20-7. The Bearcats are lacking on defense.

Sep 19 Pass High at D'Iberville (7:30 p.m.) PIERSON - D'Iberville, 35-14. No contest. BARBER - D'Iberville, 35-21. Warriors will make Pirates look tame. LOIACANO - D'Iberville, 21-7. The Warriors will win it.

Sep 20 Pearl River J.C. at Delta (7:30 p.m.) PIERSON - PRC, 17-10. The Wildcats will pick up number one. BARBER - PRC, 14-7. PRC needs a win. LOIACANO - Pearl River, 21-14. The Wildcats are hungry for a win.

Sep 20 Gulf Coast at East Mississippi (7:30 p.m.) PIERSON - Gulf Coast, 17-7. Gulf Coast will remain unbeaten. BARBER - Gulf Coast, 21-6. East is no threat. LOIACANO - Gulf Coast, 21-7. Gulf Coast is strong on offense.

Sep 20 Texas A&M at LSU PIERSON - Texas A&M, 14-13. The Tigers will start off 6-2. BARBER - LSU, 16-7. The Tigers looked good against Nebraska. LOIACANO - Texas A&M, 14-10. The Aggies have it all this year.

Sep 20 Mississippi at Tulane PIERSON - Tulane, 16-7. The Wave is at high tide after the Clemson win. BARBER - Ole Miss, 15-15. The Rebels better get moving. LOIACANO - Tulane, 16-17. The Wave will roll.

Rocks stonewall it, upend Pearl River, 14-0

The Stanislaus Rocks, in the absence of their starting quarterback David Wein, presented a stiff defense and a strong running game to upend Pearl River Central 14-0 Friday night in Carriere.

The Rocks were handicapped as they took the field without the services of their starting quarterback Wein, who is out for two weeks with a pulled hamstring muscle, but the defense took up the slack and the Rock running backs provided the scoring punch.

Pearl River's star running back James Smith was held to just 31 yards in 12 carries, and the Rock defense did not allow an enemy penetration past the Stanislaus 40-yard line. "It's the first time to my knowledge," said Rock coach Barry Jones, "that Smith has been held under 100 yards."

Mike Graeber, who filled in at quarterback for the injured

Weir, completed five of 14 passes for 91 yards, but it was the Rocks running attack that finished off Pearl River Central.

The Stanislaus running backs netted 180 yards with Skip Negrotto and Art Scatidi accounting for most of that.

The first half was scoreless, despite two apparent Stanislaus touchdowns that were called back because of penalties. In the second half, however, the Rocks finally ended their frustration and denied the scoreboard when Negrotto plunged over from the one-yard line with 7:07 left in the third quarter. The PAT kick failed, and the Rocks led 6-0.

The only other score of the game came with only six seconds left in the contest when Negrotto scored again, this time on an 11-yard run. Graeber added the two-point conversion, and the Rocks clinched a 14-0 win.

"Our defense was exceptional," Coach Jones said, "and our secondary still has not had a pass completed on it." Jones singled out the play of Johnny Kersanac on defense who caused two fumbles and recovered both of them and the work of middle linebacker A. J. Cuevas, a third-year letterman who recorded six unassisted tackles and five assists.

The defense was also helped by two interceptions, one by Daren Rozas in the second period and another by Perry Elchos in the third stanza. Offensively, Negrotto, who leads the Pascagoula River Conference in scoring with 26 points, carried seven times for 77 yards and two TDs. Art Scatidi carried 18 times for 60 yards, and Perry Elchos gained 24 yards in four carries.

Hawks rain down on New Augusta

The Hancock North Central Hawks, behind another 100-yard game for quarterback Ted Williams and a defense that allowed just three first downs all night, stopped New Augusta 14-8 Friday at the New Augusta stadium.

Heavy rains played as much a factor in the score as the two solid defenses. Only one pass was completed all night, a 13-yard strike from Hancock quarterback Ted Williams to Mark Ladner, and the two teams combined got only eight first downs.

The Hawks fell behind early in the first quarter when a New Augusta running back broke loose for a 30-yard touchdown run on the first series of downs, but the Hawks turned back the PAT attempt, and from then on the game was Hancock's.

Williams hit Mark Ladner for the only pass completion of the night to tie the game, but the Hawks PAT was no good.

The Hancock eleven scored again in the first quarter when Williams found daylight and scattered 57 yards for the go-ahead score. Andrew Willis converted on the two-point try, and the Hawks led 14-0.

The rest of the game proved to be a defensive struggle with neither team able to generate much of an offense.

Hancock was denied still another touchdown in the second half when an apparent touchdown pass slipped through the hands of the intended receiver.

"We showed a real good defense out there," said Coach Irvin Favre about the game. "Our defense was better than it showed last week (a 35-0 loss to St. Stanislaus) and our offense is much more balanced than we showed tonight." Of the Hawks 223 total yards, 210 came on the ground.

"We wanted to pass more," said Favre, "but the rain was just too heavy."

Favre's Hawks (1-1) will host Pearl River, Louisiana this Friday in a 7:30 game.

"We were just hungry for a win," said Favre. "We just went out there and got it. We'll be ready to go against Pearl River," he said.

SPORTS

The Tigers of Bay High are in tough shape for this week's game against Harrison Central. Running back Wilford Parker is out for the season with a broken ankle he suffered in the second half of the Pass High game. Offensive guard Kenny Durbin will be out for four to five weeks with a knee injury, and linebacker Santo Saucier will be out again this week with knee problems. Fortunately, no one has complained about tonsillitis, probably the only thing the Tigers are not suffering from as several others are suffering from bruises, but except for the three mentioned, the rest of the roster should be able to go against the undefeated Red Rebels from Lyman.

The Stanislaus Rocks are also complaining of a couple of key injuries in their backfield. Quarterback David Wein will miss the crucial game against conference foe St. John with his pulled hamstring muscle, and reserve running back Perry Elchos, who is sporting a strong yards-per-carry average is expected to see action against the Eagles although he is suffering from a bruised thigh.

Echo's Lineman of the Week

HALTON ALFRED

Halton Alfred, Pass High's 240-pound middle linebacker, accounted for eight unassisted tackles and was credited with five assists as the Pass High team belted Bay High 30-6. Alfred also scored an excellent 63 percent on game films for his personal performance on defense.

Others receiving honorable mention for player of the week recognition include A. J. Cuevas of Stanislaus, Sonny Schwartz of Hancock North Central, David Landon of Bay High, and Bill Kulich of Coast Episcopal.

Fairgrounds to host state show

The Hancock County Fairgrounds will be the site of the 1975 state championship horse show October 24-26. This is being sponsored by the South Mississippi Horse Show and Rodeo Association.

Seven horse show districts in the state will be represented in the competition with the top five horses in each of the seven events able to compete in the 27 events in the show.

The events will include halter classes, perfection classes, timed events, and gaited western and English pleasure classes.

About 1,200 entries from all over the state are expected for the statewide event.

Pirates win, Tigers lose more than a game

By DAVID PIERSON
Echo Sports Editor

The Pass High Pirates dumped the Bay High Tigers 20-6 last Friday in inter-conference football action between the rival schools at the Pass High stadium.

Besides losing the game, the Tigers also lost the services of running back Wilford Parker for the rest of the season. Parker suffered a broken ankle in the second half. Also injured in the game was offensive guard Kenny Durbn who sustained a knee injury in the second quarter.

The defending conference champion Pirates (2-0) fell behind 6-0 early in the game when David Turcotte picked off an Aaron Swannier pass and returned it to the Pirate 35-yard line. The Tigers then showed interior line strength as they plugged away through the Pirate line and drove to the Pass High 11 on eight plays. Then, with 6:00 left in the first quarter, Bill Ginn hit Chris Johnson with a screen pass, and Johnson found his way to the end zone for the six points. It turned out to be all the offense Bay High would show all night. The PAT attempt fell short after a five-yard penalty set the Tigers back to the eight-yard line.

The Pirates were still playing giveaway football as the Pirate running back fumbled and Wilford Parker jumped on the loose ball for Bay High. The Pirates held this time, and Tom Barrett punted out of bounds at the Pass High six-yard line.

In the second quarter, the Pirates took control of the game. Getting possession on their own 30 after an exchange of punts, the Pirates drove to the Bay High 22 with the benefit of two costly Tiger penalties and a 14-yard run by Paul Stewart. Stewart then ripped through the Bay High defense to cover the last 22 yards and give the Pirates the tying score. The two-point attempt failed.

Pass High scored again on its next possession. Brent Jenkins, taking advantage of a mixup in the Tigers' secondary, hit speedster Darel Lang at the Bay High 15.

David Ray came from his defensive position to make the saving tackle for the Tigers, but the effort was in vain. After David Turcotte missed a chance for his second interception of the game, the Pirates cashed in on a third-and-18 situation when Aaron Swannier hit Myron Cook on the left sidelines and outran two Tiger defenders into the end zone to give the Pirates a 12-6 lead. The PAT kick was blocked.

Bay High quarterback Bill Ginn engineered two good drives in the third quarter, but both times the Tigers were turned back empty-handed. The second of the two drives was the most promising for the Bay High fans. Getting possession at their own 20, the Tigers went exclusively with running plays and drove the ball to the Pirate 38 before a fumble once again disheartened the visitors.

Capitalizing on the Tiger letdown and taking advantage of the weakened left side of the defense where several key defenders were out of action, Pass High drove straight down field for the clinching score. Mixing his plays well, but sticking exclusively to the ground, quarterback Swannier took the Pirates 62 yards on seven plays, capping the drive with a one-yard plunge by Otis Woods.

As in last week's loss to Stone, the Tigers found themselves down 20-6 in the fourth quarter trying to get a drive together and the rain coming down on them. This time, as last, the rain damped the Bay High hopes.

The Tigers, now 0-2, will host undefeated Harrison Central this Friday in a conference meeting. Pass Christian will travel to D'Arville to meet the conference favorites in a 7:30 p.m. game.

Waveland pony wins the 150-special at Oak Down

Special to The Echo
PEARL RIVER, La.

Winning a special pony race Sunday at Oak Downs was Trigger, owned by Bill Corr of Waveland and trained by Danny Patton of Bay St. Louis.

Trigger won the 150-yard special race by defeating Blue Devil Deck Jr., a winner in two previous pony races. Riding Trigger to victory was Rusty Greer.

In regular racing, two Hancock County horses visited the winner's circle.

Ring Bearer, owned and trained by Terry Bounds of Bay St. Louis, captured the 330-yard seventh race by downing Top Hustler.

In the 300-yard 10th race, Miss Julie, owned by Stevie Necaise and trained by Larry Favre, defeated The Duck. Miss Julie ran a Class B time.

In other action, Ray McNease's Run Champ set a new meet record for 300 yards by turning in a Class AA clocking of 18.11 seconds in winning the 11th race.

Run Champ defeated Little Queenie (18.29). The previous meet record was set Feb. 2 by Perry's Gem with a 16.13 performance.

In other top performances Sunday, Elmo Harless' Tail Win posted an A time of 21.125 in capturing the 400-yard sixth race over South Dallas (21.195) and Trudy; Thomas Malone's She's A Rebel had an A time of 17.655 in winning the 330-yard third race over Toby's Topper (18.005) and Gypsy Chick (18.34); and Mike Kirkland's Bam Bars recorded a swift clocking of 37.40 for three furlongs in winning the 12th against Little Sixty (38.07).

Sunday's results:

Coast fumbles away game

By NORMAN BOWERS
Special to The Echo

With the lack of any kind of offense, the Coast Episcopal Raiders lost their second game of the season to Ridgewood of New Orleans Saturday afternoon, 26-0.

Ridgewood controlled the ball for 32 of the 48 minutes of the game as they rolled to the 26-0 whitewashing of the Pass Christian team.

Kal Koeling started the Eagles' scoring when he returned a first quarter punt 29 yards for a touchdown. The Raiders could not get back in the game and fumbled away every opportunity they had to mount an offensive attack.

With less than a minute left in the first half, the Raiders gave the Eagles their second touchdown of the game when they fumbled the ball in the end zone and Eagle defender George Rosevally recovered for the six points.

In the third quarter the Raider offense continued to sputter and the Eagles continued to mount their own offensive attack. David Pavolich scored the Eagles' third TD of the game on a 12-yard run. Keith Wedig ran in the two point conversion to run the score to 20-0.

The final score of the game came when quarterback Wedig slipped through the Raider defense late in the fourth quarter.

The Raiders' deepest penetration came on a loose ball recovery by Dee Coffey who scooped up an Eagle fumble at the Ridgewood 35. His effort, however, was in vain, for the coast team fumbled the back on the next play.

Bill Kulich, who was in on several tackles, linebacker and Dee Coffey were the two standouts for the losers.

The Raiders, all told, coughed up the ball five times on fumbles.

Coast Episcopal will have an open date this week to prepare for their next game, a September 27 clash with St. Paul's of Mobile.

registrations continue to roll in

Registrations for the 1975 Punt, Pass & Kick competition co-sponsored locally by the Waveland Jaycees and Charlie Henderson Ford continue to roll in. The contest is open to any youngster eight through 13 years of age.

No special equipment is needed and participation does not impair a youngster's amateur standing. Each youngster will compete in three categories - punting, passing and kicking. Judges will score one point for each foot the ball travels on the fly, minus one point for each foot the ball lands to the right or left of the center tape.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Fishing consists of more than just sitting a line. To fish properly, the motor must be kept in running order. The trailer must be in perfect shape with wheels properly greased and of course, a boat that does not leak.

To fish to the best advantage, one should own an electric motor for best results.

Reels have to be checked, lines changed, licenses renewed and, of course, the weather is a main factor to any fishing trip plus the tides. All in all, a fisherman has a hard life, but he loves it. Always ready to go at any time.

One thing I forgot to mention, fishermen have to eat. Whether the wife likes them or not, we have found that stuffed crabs make a wonderful lunch.

What is more fun than being up the boat, eating a big steamed crab and eating lunch. No matter how old a fisherman may be, he is still a boy when it comes to eating.

Getting back to the weather of the past week, it has been pretty good for fishing. Tides fell in the afternoons which are ideal for fly fishing and casting.

Another thing about fishing, the fish have to co-operate. For example, we went fishing two days in a row.

The first day we caught the limit of bass and the following day we only caught two bass. Conditions were wrong and the fish were not co-operating, the reason not known.

Met a swell young fellow, Green Giant from Rocky Mt. up in the county. Green is a fly fisherman and does mostly fresh water fishing. He catches a few cat fish when he gets fish hungry. What a better eating than good old cat fish fried with fried string potatoes.

It is with regret that I announce the death this past week of Curtis L. Laster. Curtis was a gentleman and scholar plus a real sport. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Was a pleasure meeting Mac McCartney who is a veteran oil operator and fisherman. He is better known to the friends as "Mac". Mac is just another fisherman who is nice to talk with. He is from Illinois and spends a lot of his time at the Bay where he samples our famous fish about it. Mac.

Was glad to meet Jimmy Johnston of Waveland. Jimmy is a strictly a salt water fisherman and a real old captain. Was interesting to talk to him a time at Waveland which he calls a camp.

During World War II, he had four of his ships torpedoed. "Kinder rought I survived it," he said. "We are gonna go fishing one day, Jimmy."

Received a letter from my daughter and my son-in-law, Lt. Col. Howard Bell in Italy. They are about straightened up. Will be gone about three years. Sent an invitation to visit them. At my age, I haven't lost anything in Italy.

Have received the 1968 fishing season for ducks, geese and geese in Louisiana which will publish next week in this column or a little later. Most of our duck and geese hunters built out in the La. marsh and this should be of interest to them.

Have seen quite a few teal ducks. Teal duck hunting will be coming up soon.

For you fishermen, the water at Jordan River is on the bad side. The water in Bayou LaCroix and adjacent bayous is much better. Caught some bass late Monday evening when the tide began to fall in these streams.

If you really want to catch bass and perch, go to either Pearl River or Campbell's Bayou at Amite. These streams are clear right now.

At Pearl River, you have Middle river, Johnson Pass and Kaufman Bayou which are good trout any old time provided the tide is falling. While fishing these streams you must have a Louisiana license.

MALLORY - Nat. Wells, Flying Scot skipper from Dallas, Texas, won the Semi-Finals of the Men's North American Sailing Championship for the Mallory Cup last weekend at Bay Waveland Yacht Club. Wells and his crew demonstrated their skill throughout the five race round robin event, finishing with three firsts, a second and a third.

Sailing conditions were excellent for the series, not in any way favoring the local skipper, as a north wind moved in with Friday night's cool front and continued to blow until the end of the final race Sunday.

Bobby Eagan moved out to an early lead in the first race Saturday morning and with flawless teamwork with his crew Buzzy Heausler and Ed Turnipseed steadily increased his lead to finish nearly two minutes ahead of second place John Bartlett of Austin, Texas, with Nat Wells in third.

The next two races were won by Wells, who is Commodore of his Flying Scot fleet at the Dallas Corinthian Sailing Club. Wells, and his crew John Diggins and Marke Smith, with persistent playing of the fickle wind shifts and expert spinnaker handling went on to win the series by more than seven points over second place Bobby Eagan with 13 1/2. John Bartlett was third also with 13 1/2; Lyle Phillips of Jacomo Yacht Club, Kansas City, Missouri, was fourth with 16; Paul Schreck of Pensacola Yacht Club was fifth with 23.

Harry Chapman, regatta chairman for the Mallory Semi-Finals, utilized the abilities of many yacht club members to conduct a smoothly run series. Eugene Walet III, Mallory Cup winner in 1953 and 1954, was Chief Judge for the event. Bill Reeves was Race Committee Chairman.

Wells and his crew will represent Area F in the Mallory Finals to be sailed at Southern Yacht Club September 25-28, an eight race round robin in Flying Scots.

HALL THE BILGE - The visitors were entertained at Hall the Bilge Saturday evening after the races. Hosts were Commodore and Mrs. Walter Gehrke, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Augrain, Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Eagan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heitkamp, Mr. and Mrs. William Heausler, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Trapani, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Townsend.

MONK SMITH REGATTA - Bay Waveland will host the Monk Smith Invitational GYA Cup Regatta September 20 and 21. In addition to the GYA Flying Scot class there will be Open Scots, 470's, Lasers, Senior and Junior Sunfish and Portsmouth classes. Registration is from 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday. The Skippers' Meeting is scheduled for 11 a.m. in the Junior Room on the Lower Deck. The Snack Bar will be open for lunch and drinks both Saturday and Sunday. The first race is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday, with the second race starting at 3:30. A Seafood Dinner will be served in the Dining Room beginning at 6 p.m.

Coffee and doughnuts will be available at the Club Sunday at 8 a.m. The third race will start at 10:30 a.m. Dinner will be served in the Dining Room from 12:00 to 2:00 p.m. Trophy presentation is at 2 p.m.

COVERED DISH DINNER - The BWYC Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor an "Old Time Covered Dish" Buffet Dinner on Saturday, September 27. Members are asked to prepare a favorite dish in the category corresponding to their last initial: A-E Vegetable Casseroles, F-J Dessert, K-R Meat or Seafood Casseroles, S-Z Salad.

The cocktail hour will be at 7 p.m. with dinner at 8 p.m. Admission will be $1.50 per person with an additional charge for anyone not contributing a dish. Music will be provided by Ronnie Caire and his accordion for some good old sing-along entertainment.

Golden Eagles prepare for clash with bowling Green

HATTIESBURG — Coming off their longest trip of the season, an opening date with Weber State in Ogden, Utah, the University of Southern Mississippi Golden Eagles will make their second longest trek on the coming weekend. Coach Bobby Collins, who made his debut as a head coach last week, will lead the Eagles into Bowling Green, Ohio, for a Saturday night battle with the Bowling Green University Falcons of the Mid-American Conference.

In last week's game, the Golden Eagles upended Weber State, 14-10.

Another Falcon to watch is sophomore quarterback Mark Miller. He started eight games as a freshman last year. With 4.6 speed for 40 yards, he's a strong pass-run threat.

Saturday's contest will be only the second meeting of the inter-sectional rivals. It also will be the second of 11 road games for the Eagles, whose home stadium is still under renovation and expansion.

The game at Perry Field in Bowling Green will have a 12:30 (CDT) kickoff.

Two years ago they played for the state title

POPLARVILLE. — Pearl River Junior College will return to gridiron action this Saturday as they take on the Mississippi Delta Trojans in a 7:30 p.m. game at Moorhead.

The year before last the Cats and Trojans met in Poplarville for the state championship. But so far in the early going of 1975, both have experienced setbacks.

Pearl River lost their opener by a 16-9 count to East Central and Delta remains without a win after tries against Southwest and Holmes.

The Wildcats were off last week, regrouping after suffering a setback against the East Central Warriors. The Warriors, last season's worst junior college team, kept things rolling over the weekend by beating East Mississippi Junior College 21-0.

"This just reaffirms our contention that we were beaten by a good team in that first game," J.C. Arban, Wildcat head coach said. The head coach also said the Cats spent the first week after the loss going over mistakes made against the East Central crew.

But all thoughts have been turned to the Delta Trojans the past seven days in preparation for stopping the Trojans Saturday night. "We had a real good practice Saturday, the head coach said. "And I think we will be ready for the Delta squad."

Mississippi Delta's offense is built around five sophomores on the offensive unit and six on the defensive team. Running backs Jessie Page and James Wilmer were singled out as the top scoring threats for the Trojans.

PRC will go with the same basic starting offensive and defensive units that began the first game. Arban said Charles Pigott would probably start at center and Randy Anderson at linebacker. Other changes may include Johnny Miller at linebacker and Keith Shelton as punter.

No less than five backs are set to go against the Trojans behind sophomore quarterback Tony Walker of Ville Platte, La. They will include Frank Woods, Emerson Aborom, Rusty Cavataio, Andy Robichaux and Kenny Knight.

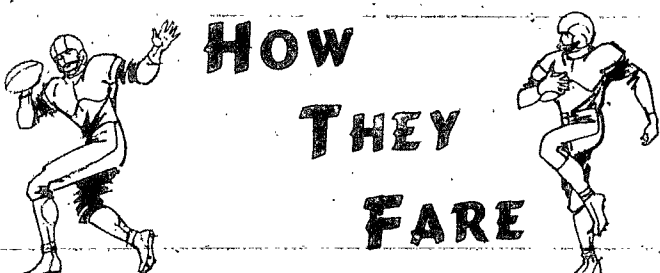

Scouting reports indicated

Delta had completely changed their defensive set from the first game. "We really do not know what to expect," Arban said. Delta also displayed more offensive formations against Holmes, than they had during the opening contest.

In other action over the weekend, north titlist Itawamba won its opener 24-15 over Northeast. Gulf Coast opened South Division action with a 25-7 triumph over Jones. Hinds jumped on top of the South division standings Thursday night with a 15-6 victory and Northeast took Co. Lin 28-12.

As things stand now Pearl River still has the opportunity to win the South Division since north division games do not count in the standings unless teams are tied at the end of the year.

Ted Williams of Hancock North Central, with another 100-yard game, continues to lead the local ball carriers in rushing average and total yards through the first two weeks of the year.

Skip Negrotto, Stanislaus' fullback, leads the area runners as well as the conference, in touchdowns rushing. He has scored four TD's and a two-point conversion for a 26 point total for the Rockchaws.

Bay High's Bill Ginn leads the passing category with the most mileage, 187 yards in the air, and Ricky Senner and Gene Hoda, both of Stanislaus, lead in the pass receiving category.

Rushing leaders are based on at least ten carries through the first two games.

More cattle infected with pink-eye disease

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Indications are that more cattle have been infected with pink-eye this summer than in past years. Herds of predominantly black cattle that were thought to be resistant to the disease are being infected.

The reason for this outbreak is not fully understood, however, there are some who feel that the increased population of face flies has intensified the disease. If this is true, the disease can be spread very easily and could reach epidemic proportions since there is no effective control of face flies, warns Bill Develin, area livestock specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

In addition to flies, dry dusty environmental conditions, bright sunlight and feeding in tall grass tend to propagate the disease. This disease can easily become a serious problem for cattlemen, therefore some knowledge of it should be helpful, says the specialist.

The technical name for pink-eye is "infectious bovine keratoconjunctivitis." This simply means a microbial inflammation of the cornea (eyeball coat) and conjunctiva (mucous membrane) of cattle.

Research indicates that the first sign of the disease is a drooping of the eyelid, followed by a few tears, blinking and a few hours later a marked flow of tears. After 24 hours, the flow of tears is heavy and one or several ulcers have begun to form on the surface of the cornea. In a few hours the cornea becomes cloudy. Cloudiness increases until the cornea is completely covered.

By the time the cornea is completely covered, the animals are beginning to seek shade. Some animals develop a mild fever with a depressed appetite and decreased milk production. After about a week, blood vessels develop on the eyeball, progress toward the center and finally stop carrying blood. The remains of these vessels persist as scars. If the cornea ruptures, the eyeball usually is destroyed, states Develin.

It has been observed that fewer cows than calves are affected. This is primarily due to the resistance the cows have obtained by having the disease as calves. However, recovered animals often become carriers.

If treatment is initiated early, says Develin, complete recovery of sight can result.

The affected animals should be removed from the herd and placed in a dark barn.

Treatment with antibiotics such as liquid sulfa, nitrofurazone, tetracycline, chloramphenicol and penicillin can begin by injection into the lining of the eye socket.

Back rubbers and dusters charged with Co-ral or Ciodrin will give partial control of face flies. Other measures to control pink-eye are as follows: (1) clip pastures to remove tall grasses with awns and seeds that irritate the eyes, and (2) provide shelter for cattle during the day. The face fly does not enter buildings, says Develin.

Protein Substitutes Peas & Beans

Dry beans and their close cousins, dry peas and lentils, are the answer to penny-pinching and nutrition-high meals. They are among the least expensive sources of protein, iron and B-Vitamins. To get the most value from your bean dishes, include complementary proteins in your menu like—eggs, cheese, milk, or nuts.

Most beans and peas require soaking before cooking. For a good shortcut, start by boiling them for 2 minutes then remove from heat, soak an hour and they're ready to cook. Read package directions because some varieties are presoaked. If you want really great flavor, use chicken or beef broth instead of water.

Cooking time varies with type. Allow about 2 hours for black and split green or yellow peas. Lima beans need 45 minutes to an hour. Great Northern beans require 1 to 1½ hours. And lentils and black-eyed peas need only ½ hour.

Add one teaspoon salt per cup of dry beans or peas, and flavorings such as onions and herbs when cooking. Simmer gently and stir very little to prevent breaking of skins.

Always remember to allow room for expansion when cooking. 1 cup of beans gives you 2 to 2½ cups cooked beans.

MYSTERY STONES

Early archeologists digging in ancient Indian villages in the Mississippi River valley were puzzled by discovery of some round, pearl-like "stones" that had L-shaped grooves on one side.

Research finally disclosed that the strange objects were otoliths, ear bones which had been removed from large freshwater drum, a fish commonly used by Indians as food.

Circumstances surrounding the Indian-site otoliths have prompted archeologists to speculate that they probably were used for ceremonial or medicinal purposes.

"And research by the outdoor recreation department at Mercury outdoors shows that many early settlers in America considered possession of the ear bones desirable because of the good luck they supposedly brought. Consequently, in many areas of the country, otoliths are still called "lucky bones."
